A BILL

To award posthumously a Congressional Gold Medal to Hazel M. Johnson, in recognition of her achievements and contributions to the environmental justice movement.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This Act may be cited as the “Hazel M. Johnson
5 Congressional Gold Medal Act”.

6 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

7 The Congress finds the following:

1 (1) Hazel Johnson fought for environmental
2 justice in Chicago beginning in the 1970s and con-
3 tinuing through the rest of her life.

4 (2) When Johnson discovered that the South
5 Side of Chicago had the highest cancer rate of any 6 area in Chicago, she was inspired to investigate the 7 cancer rates, foul odors, and number of children
8 with respiratory illnesses in her own neighborhood,
9 the community of Altgeld Gardens on the South
10 Side of Chicago.

11 (3) She discovered her community, Altgeld Gar-
12 dens, which is a public housing project, was built on 13 a landfill surrounded by toxicity, which polluted the 14 air, water, and land.

15 (4) Additionally, the Altgeld Gardens homes
16 had asbestos and elevated lead levels.

17 (5) This discovery inspired Johnson to create
18 the People for Community Recovery, an organization
19 which fights for a safer environment.

20 (6) Johnson and the People for Community Re-
21 covery fought to educate and empower the residents
22 of Altgeld Gardens, including providing workshops
23 and trainings, conducting health surveys, rallying
24 residents to protest contamination, and working with 25 youth in the community.

1 (7) The People for Community Recovery put
2 pressure on the Chicago Housing Authority to re-
3 move asbestos from Altgeld Gardens.

4 (8) Johnson's fight for clean water led to the 5 installation of water and sewer lines by city health
6 officials in the far South Side neighborhood of Mary-
7 land Manor, where the existing well water was con-
8 taminated with cyanide and other toxins.

9 (9) Johnson used her vigilance and activism to 10 give low-income minority communities a voice and a 11 stake in the environmental justice fight by bringing 12 the conversation to personal, immediate, and urgent
13 concerns which directly impact communities inhab-
14 ited by people of color.

15 (10) Johnson also strove to hold both busi-
16 nesses and the government responsible for how their 17 actions impact the environment.

18 (11) Johnson was given the 1992 President's 19 Environment and Conservation Challenge Award in 20 recognition of her environmental justice work.

21 (12) Notably, Johnson was instrumental in 22 pressuring President Bill Clinton to sign the Envi-
23 ronmental Justice Executive Order, which holds the 24 Federal Government accountable for urban commu-
25 nities exposed to pollution.

1 (13) In 2004, sociologist David Naguib Pellow
2 credited Johnson and the People for Community Re-
3 covery with putting “the South Side of Chicago on 4 the radar screen for activists and policy makers
5 around the United States who are concerned about 6 environmental racism”.

7 (14) On January 12, 2011, the Illinois General
8 Assembly, by way of a House Joint Resolution, des-9 ignated “the portion of 130th Street from the 10 Bishop Ford Freeway to State Street in Chicago as 11 the ‘Hazel Johnson EJ Way’ ”.

12 (15) Johnson was a visionary, who was able to 13 foresee the impacts of failing to address environ-
14 mental and social justice conditions.

15 (16) Johnson’s work earned her the title of 16 “mother of the environmental justice movement”.
